SECRET TO FINANCIAL FREEDOM: INVESTMENT CLUBS Everyone dreams of a life of financial security and independence, but most wonder if they can do it, and how. Most of the experts focus on how you, the individual, can invest. However, consider this: there is power in numbers. The principle of collective economics explains the value of individuals pooling money to invest in larger, wealth-creating opportunities. As a group of young college students, GrassRoots Investment Group put this principle into practice. In its first ten years, Grassroots grew to an organization of 40 individuals who pooled their resources for financial gains, not just for themselves, but for their children's children. Filled with a wealth of experience from these investment pioneers, Money Does Grow on Trees will show readers step by step how to: Join an existing investment club or build one of your own from the ground up Recruit the right people and set rules so your club functions properly Develop a strategy that stays relevant to the ever-changing marketplace Make large, intelligent investments by pooling individuals money together
